Good Turnout at the Municipal Annual Meeting

The Ratepayers' Annual Meeting of the Marquis Municipality for discussion of municipal affairs and nominations for candidates for councillor, was held at Milo last Saturday. The meeting was well attended, although at the opening it looked as though the number would be small but it increased considerably, as did also the vigor or thirst for information shown by a few of the ratepayers as the meeting proceeded.

Among the many resolutions was one to do without the services of the School Nurse. A petition, said to be signed by some 40 old ratepayers, asking for this action to be taken, which one speaker repeatedly asserted, was a majority of the ratepayers, is hard to understand, as there are in excess of 600 ratepayers in the Municipality. Several spoke well of the work done by the Nurse. Among them was Mrs. H. R. McBride, who gave figures to show that it only costs a little over 30c per quarter section. Others said they would rather do without some other service than without the Nurse.

The salary of the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. McLean, was discussed and some advocated a cut. One speaker explained that the Secretary had travelled over 4000 miles last fall, collecting taxes, and filling out papers, in many cases saving a legal fee. In addition he had made three trips to Calgary and two trips to Edmonton on municipal business, the expenses of which came out of his salary. This information was given in order to show that the Secretary's salary was not so huge as some had tried to make it appear. There were so many motions and amendments that some of the ratepayers frankly admitted that they did not know where they were at and consequently did not vote on the many motions, all pertaining to the same resolution, believing it unnecessary, more so as it was only a recommendation to the Council for their ability to act to the best of their ability and judgment.

One often wonders if the honor of being a councillor is sufficient compensation for what a man has to contend with in dealing with the general public, who, on some of these yearly occasions, is assailed from all directions. Sometimes he hardly gets a word of thanks even though he may often be out of pocket through having to neglect his own business in order to give the time required for his public duties, although

Buffalo Hill News

Mr. McManman returned last Wednesday from Retlaw, after visiting there for a week, renewing acquaintances. He reports having heard of some plowing being done at Barwell, and says, regarding the hard times, "You couldn't tell it by the people there, as everyone seemed in good spirits and well dressed." — that's real optimism and the right attitude for best results.

Hirst Goldthorpe and Joe Bell left for the Pidgeon Lake district last week with the truck. They intend to bring back some lumber which Hirst is having sawed up there.

Last week A. E. Starling received by express from Regina, three jessie Buff Orpington Cockerels, weighing 9 lbs. each. These birds are to head his flock of Alberta University strain of Buff Orpington hens. He stated that the price of eggs for setting would be higher than last, as also would be the quality.

The Community Oyster Supper at Sunset Valley School on Friday, Feb. 16th was quite a success. A number of invited guests and others played at eight tables of court ship. Ladies' first prize Grace Campbell, second Mrs. Martin, Gent's first, Ed. Hanson. After the cards the gentlemen took their lady partners to well laden tables, the menu consisting of oyster soup a plenty, chicken salad, jellies, bread and cakes in abundance which with hot coffee, was relished by all. Various musical numbers were rendered, which with the singing, provided a very enjoyable time. Mr. Arneson sang three songs, one of which he sang in French as well, and was enjoyed, ending a very pleasant evening and all left for home at 2 a.m.

On this occasion there was a vote of thanks given to the Councilors for their work during the past year, which, no doubt long overdue and but only a few crumbs compared with their efforts.

Nominations for Councillors were:

M. H. Ward,
V. Bertrand,
James Darr,
D. Broderick,
J. Lucas.

On Saturday, Feb. 24th polls will be conducted throughout the Municipality. A poll will be held in the Inghram Bldg. Voting from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. A vote will also be taken at the same time and place to decide the School Nurse question.

"A Wild Flower of the Hills"

Following is a synopsis of the play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," which will be presented by the Brethren Young People at the school auditorium on Friday, March 2nd:

Life is no bed of roses for Chloé, the sixteen-year-old waif, who was reared poorly by the Burkes in the Kentucky Hills and is systematically abused and despised by Mrs. Burke because her parents were circus performers. In self-defense she defies the authority of John Burke, a young aviator, eldest son and head of the family, turning for refuge to her only friends, good old Mammy and the mysterious wanderer, Snow-White. Her attitude toward John changes, however, when he becomes blind from an airplane accident. With the aid of the Snow-White, she is able to foil the plots of his enemies, a group of moonshiners. Eventually hate turns to love and the little waif comes into her own as heiress of an old Southern family. A gripping story, rich in heart interest. Cast includes a crafty attorney, his designing sister, the aviator's jealous younger brother, also a lazy dandy and his wife, who furnish much of the comedy element. It will be well worth your time to see it. Remember the date, March 2nd, at the school at 8 o'clock.

Cast of characters are in order of their first appearance:
Mammy — Ruth Brubaker
Colored Servant at Burkes
Lily — Evelyn Burris
Her Daughter
Mase — Donald Vancil
Lily's Husband
Mrs. C. Burke — Mildred Vancil
A Jealous Woman
Chloé — Mildred Kauffman
An Unwelcome Waif
Sue Jackson — Irm Arney
A Designing Girl
Snow-White — Chester Arney
Chloé's Unacknowledged Father
John Burke — Russell Burris
Mrs. Burke's Eldest Son
Jed Burke — Francis Mason
Her Younger Son
Zeck Jackson — Vernon Miller
Sue's Brother, An Attorney

U.F.W.A. PARTY

All ladies whose names are on the 1933 and 1934 Rolls are invited, with their husbands, to a Calico Party at the School on Tuesday, February 27th at 8.30. Ladies to wear print socks and the men to come in shirt sleeves and print neckties.

Warning

It has been brought to the attention of the Board that a number of youths of the village are trespassing on school property after hours and making disturbances around the school house at night time especially when there is a practice or some school performance going on, in fact they have actually broken into the school. This MUST BE STOPPED AT ONCE. Anyone found trespassing will be prosecuted.

The Jr. U.F.A. will meet on Saturday evening at the home of H. Brown.

Miss Willa Leith was the hostess at three tables of bridge on Tuesday evening of this week. Marjorie Leonard won first prize and Audrey Ward consolation. The latter part of the evening was turned into a surprise birthday party for the hostess and many beautiful gifts were presented. Following this, a dainty lunch was served and the party broke up in the wee sma' hours of the night, wishing Willa many happy returns of the day.

E. C. Bowman and family, who spent the winter in Washington, returned to their home Monday. They report a very pleasant and enjoyable vacation which was shortened somewhat so as to take advantage of the good roads and mild weather for their trip home. When they left, the winter wheat fields in Northern Washington, were a nice green and farmers were busy seeding their spring wheat, while wild daffodils in bloom, gladdened the eye of the passing motorist. Mr. Bowman tells us that he had very pleasant visits with former Arrowwood residents: the Weddle family, Tiegans, Neider, Luther Shatto, the Sterns, Shamburgers and the Eshoms. Mr. Eshom is nicely located on a fruit and poultry farm near Tonasket, Wash. and sends greetings to all their Arrowwood friends, with an invitation to visit them when opportunity offers.

Arrowwood Notes

M. H. Ward was a business visitor to Calgary on Wednesday.

Mrs. L. E. Farnell is staying in Calgary for a couple of weeks receiving special treatments.

We are glad to hear that little Jackie Ward is feeling much better after his recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lewendon were host and hostess at a dinner party on Saturday last. The evening was spent in playing bridge.

The W.A. of the Arrowwood United Church will hold a sale of Cooked Foods and Aprons in the Inghram Bldg. on March 31st, at 3 p.m.

The young people of the Church of the Brethren are presenting a play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," at the school on March 2nd.

FOR SALE — Rhode Island Red setting eggs, 25c per setting. Mrs. G. Riches, Arrowwood.

"Cooks for a Month" will be staged in the Arrowwood School on Feb. 23rd, by members of the High School Literary Society.

We are sorry to learn that Mildred Kauffman is confined to her bed with a slight attack of rheumatic fever. We hope that she will soon be about again.

The large attendance of the Aid members at W. M. Burris, last Friday and the hearty response to the world prayer day program, was greatly appreciated. Next Thursday, March 1, the Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. M. C. Norton. Every body welcome.

The free illustrated lecture on modern farm methods to be put on by the Larsen Implements in the Phillips' Hall on Thursday, March 1st, at 2.30 p.m., is something new and should draw a large patronage.

On Thursday afternoon of last week, Mrs. J. M. Weins made a charming hostess to four tables of bridge. First prize was won by Mrs. C. G. Taylor and consolation by Mrs. W. Service. The hostess was assisted at the tea hour by her daughter Loretta, and Dorothy Hesketh.

An illustrated address will be given by Donald Cameron in Arrowwood on March 3rd, under the auspices of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. Full particulars next week.

At the Annual Meeting of the Marquis Municipal Ratepayers, held at Milo on Saturday February 17, the question was raised whether we should keep the Municipal Nurse and it will be brought to a vote at the same time that the vote is cast for Municipal Councillors on February 24.

Regarding the nurse it might be interesting to note that the actual cost to the ratepayers is little more than thirty cents per quarter section annually. She visits 29 school, holds pre-school age clinics, helps to enforce the Public Health Act, etc. It is estimated that she has under her supervision approximately one thousand children in this municipality.

Mr. Buckingham, a speaker from the Field Crops Branch, Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton, addressed a good sized gathering of farmers in the Inghram Bldg., Arrowwood, on Tuesday afternoon last. His topic was seed grains, the characteristics of the different varieties and their suitability for this district. He also dwelt on the grasshopper situation and the steps being taken to control the expected outbreak this year.

On Tuesday evening, in the Inghram Building, at 8 p.m., Mr. Rees Hugh, the District Commissioner of Boy Scouts, will discuss with parents and all those interested in the Scout movement, the ways and means of forming a troop of Boy Scouts and also a cub pack. Parents who are at all interested in the welfare of their boys should endeavor to be present. The good derived from the Scout work in the life of a boy cannot be overestimated.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age, but is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is forming a room with Peter, Sylvia Tott, a friend of Peter's, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarreled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter enters Camilla's guests with impetuosity. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise. Camilla decides that she must leave the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with Rose, her sister, who is a file clerk in a business office. They decide to take an apartment. Rowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business. After a conference with Mr. Bowman, Camilla decides to attempt the work. With ideas running riot in her head she goes home and spends the night sketching. In the morning, armed with her samples she sets out for the agency.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXIX

It was a question which girl had received the sudden announcement of Peter's marriage with more disappointment and amazement, Avis or Sylvia. To Avis, however, it was merely another obstacle in the path toward her ambition. To Sylvia, it presaged a certain finality for the two possibilities she had visioned, and for which she had been playing a double hand. As she explained to her astonished image when she read the announcement in the society column of the morning paper, "Well for crying at the moon! Who would have thought they could fool everyone like that? Um, um, I guess that lays me out with flowers, all right, either way you look at it. I'll bet the big and mighty Avis Werth feels like a pucker up green apple, herself."

"The scurrying of the telephone bell interrupted her monologue. 'What the green apple herself, I'll bet.'"

"Yeah, hello," she drawled, and nodded her head with confirmation toward her silent audience of one, in the mirror.

"You've seen the latest news?" inquired Avis.

"I just read it, and as if you read my mind, the phone rings. I guessed it was you right away."

"Clever of you, I'm sure. But you haven't been so clever with Mr. Anson as you expected to be."

"Well, and isn't this good enough proof of the reason why? A new bride—what would you expect of the with such competition as that? I guess it surprised even you, didn't it? Not much chance for either of us, there."

"Either of us?" surprised.

"Well, you know what I mean. No chance for me to vamp him away from the Hoyt girl so you could take him over in sympathy," and she added to herself, "Fine chance you'd have had at him if I had got that far!"

"I don't know why not?"

"You don't mean you're not ready to give him up, yet?"

"Why should I? Just because a girl is married doesn't mean that he's chained to a life sentence, does it? In fact, this particular situation makes it easier to break up. But I'll take the affair into my own hands."

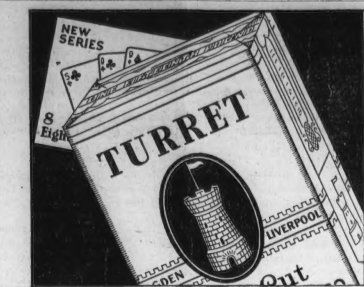

"But, say," Sylvia objected, "I gotta finish my work for him, even if he's married. I wouldn't be so mean as to cheat a fellow like that when he's done nothing to me. Besides, I have some pride in the ethics of my profession, and my reputation. Models don't desert an employer in the middle of a piece of work."

"Suit yourself about that," Avis agreed indifferently, "but you've decided to stay with him, haven't you? In the middle of a piece of work. I won't need your services longer, and if you see a new tenant in Annex Hall soon, don't recognize me."

"Okay with me, Miss Werth. Rent two studios in the Annex Hall, for all I care."

"By the way, you will be wise if you drop your efforts to attract Mr. Anson."

"Say, I'm only too glad not to be under obligation to think up new ways for throwing out that iceberg," she retorted, but her blue eyes twinkled with the thought, "Being under obligation no more, let's out. But I guess if he is still ripe cherries for you, he is for me, too, your highness!"

But when Sylvia went to Peter's studio on the following day to pose, she experienced a new and sinister interest in the man and his work. She twitted him in her characteristic gay manner.

"So! young man, you've been misrepresenting yourself to me as a bachelor, and all the time you were a married man, with a trusting wife concealed in your private life."

"Well, I guess I've given you no cause for complaint," he laughed easily.

"If you say haven't," she admired.

"But say, I'd like to see the girl that stirred you up enough to lead you to the marriage license bureau and keep it a secret."

"You may, any time you wish. I'll have Camilla run in some day and meet you. She would like to, I'm sure."

"Camilla—well name. Is she as beautiful as her name sounds?"

"Ever so much more beautiful!" he declared proudly.

Sylvia reflected upon that with haste. "More beautiful than I am?"

"I wouldn't say that—no. But your types are so different, I couldn't compare you. She is about your size, but has dark eyes and black hair."

"Then I was wasting my time, anyway," she shrugged with good humor. "I might have known a blond gentleman like you would prefer a brunette. Well, good luck to you, two, and that means we had better get to work."

"Thanks, yes, it does," Peter replied. "I have to get this thing ready to cast the mold in another week, or I won't be ready for the exhibit, after all."

Several days later, when Sylvia came again to Peter's studio, she observed that the hall was strewn with crates and boxes.

"Someone moving in across the hall?" she asked him.

"Looks like it, doesn't it?"

"Well, it'll be nice to have near neighbors. You're sort of alone up at this end of the hall."

"That's why I took this room. That suite across the hall is twice as large as this and twice as much rent, and I didn't think it was likely to be occupied very soon."

"Know who it is?"

"Haven't the slightest idea. No door I care. I am going to be so busy for the next month that I can't care who lives there."

"Oh, yeah?" thought Sylvia. "Well, they might say more to hello to you," but she said no more to Peter.

When Camilla telephoned Mr. Bowman on the morning after her first conference with his executive, and announced that she had samples ready to submit to him, he exclaimed with dismay and disappointment.

"But, Miss Hoyt, surely you haven't—what I mean is, we want you to take your time, even though we are anxious to have your suggestions as soon as possible."

"That was what I understood," she agreed patiently, "and they are ready now."

"Very well. We shall be glad to see them whenever you can come in." But his voice indicated that he expected to be keenly disappointed, because no one could produce a worthwhile suggestion and still live demise within less than twenty-four hours for you, he is for me, too, your highness!"

Camilla, however, arranged the precious ink and color drawings in the order she wished to display them and drove downtown confidently. The two hours of sleep had refreshed her unbelievably, and the inspiration of the previous day still made her heart light and her thoughts logical. Of course, she conceded the possibility that the work was not as good as she believed it to be, but she was no less eager for the verdict of her judges.

She even detected a less cordial attitude in Mr. Bowman's greeting.

"Or was it only my imagination?" He appeared already to feel the disappointment which he anticipated in her hasty work.

After all, he thought, like every young hopeful, the prospect had stimulated her imagination and she had leaped into the first idea that came to her, with visions of sudden fame and wealth. That was what everyone was looking for these days—nothing less—an elevator to success and wealth. Ladders to success were obsolete, along with one-shoos saags and celluloid collars.

Mr. Bowman had called a second conference with less optimism, and Camilla found herself, once more seated at his right, with six men surrounding the polished walnut table. Her fingers trembled a little —with fatigue or apprehension—as she opened the portfolio and laid the drawing before them.

"Perhaps I had better explain the idea," she began, "but look at these," she suggested modestly.

"Very well, Miss Hoyt."

What do our heavy hearts prove but that other things are sweeter to us than His will, that we have not attained to the full mastery of our true freedom, the full perception of its power, that our sonship is not yet realized, and its blessedness not yet received and known. Our consciences would turn all our trials into obedience. By consenting we make them our own, and offer them up ourselves again to Him.—H. E. Manning.

Not Many Eggs Imported

Canada Aids To Produce Enough For Home Needs

Canada does not import many eggs, the domestic hen apparently being able to cater for her own folk. The few we get—3,754 dozen in December, which was considerably above the average of the past year—came mainly from Hong Kong, United States and Australia. The total supply in 1933 was 24,753 dozen. That is, eggs in the shell, for we get frozen and dried eggs from China and the United States to some little extent—36,706 pounds in 1933, which was less than one-third of the 1932 requirement.

Church of the Brethren Notes

Beautiful Leadership Training Certificates were awarded to pupils of the Church of the Brethren District Bible School which was conducted in Arrow-wood during November and December. These certificates, one for each course completed, were presented in the morning service last Sunday by Rev. M.
Wicand. While the work of the school in most classes was more intensive and more extensive than that required by the Leadership Training Curriculum, we are glad for this recognition from the Religious Education Council of Canada.
Each pupil was also presented with an artistic folder from the Council in which to keep the certificates until the twelve courses have been completed which entitles the holder to a diploma.

Miss Sarah Duncan of Arrow-wood was the only pupil of the School receiving a grade "A" in two subjects. Those receiving a grade of "A" in one subject were Miss Alberta Mason and Miss Mildred Kauffman of Arrowwood, Miss Oleta McCune
and Mr. Glen McCune of Ir-ricana. Figures accompanying the Certificates indicate that Miss Sarah Duncan's average percentage grade was above everyone else. Miss Alberta Mason received the second highest average grade.

Miss Mildred Kauffman received the highest grade in any one subject.

Others receiving certificates were Rev. J. H. Brubaker, Mrs.
Elsie Larsen, Mr. Quinter Hol-tenberg, Mrs. Dora Larsen, Mr.
Russell Burris, Mr. Walter
Larsen, Miss Ruth Brubaker and Miss Evelyn Burris.

Also, Rev. John Wicand received an Instructor's certificate and Mrs. Wicand was awarded three Certificates. A total of forty two certificates were granted.

In a contest recently concluded between the three adult Sunday School classes, the Bible class exceeded both of the others. The two defeated classes entertained the Bible Class last Friday evening. About eighty people were present and enjoyed the supper. A very interesting program clin-axed the evening's entertainment.

met at the home of Mrs. C. G.
Taylor for a Valentine party.

The evening was spent in games from which the girls derived much pleasure. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Betty Ann Kemper, Joyce Robinson, Dorothy Jean
Jones and Mary Weins.

Shirley Taylor and Arla Jean Larsen acted as post masters in giving out the Valentines; for position being an award for the best Valentine verse recited.
The party drew to a close after a very well planned lunch was served by Mrs. Taylor, Mrs.
Board, and Mrs. Larsen.
Brownies, Tawny Owl, and Brown Owl wish to thank the mothers who donated towards the lunch and the ladies who served.

Milo Notes

A benefit bridge, sponsored by the Milo Rebekah Lodge was held at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. J. McLean, on Thursday evening, Feb. 15th. Proceeds to be donated to Wood's home for Children, in Calgary.
Preparation was made for a large crowd, but only enough people put in an appearance to fill eight tables, for this worthy project. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. L. Phillips; gent's first N. St. Peter. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Don't forget the Junior U.
F.A. play and dance Friday evening, 23rd.

Milo Badminton Club is making preparations for the big tournament to be held Midwinter. Members are urged to practice up and be in good form for the game.

Vancouver.

Mrs. E. Cully was hostess to a small party of her friends on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilchrist.

East Milo News

One of the children playing on the swings in the school yard was hurt quite badly last week, when the swing caught her head. The child was taken to Blackie for medical treatment, when it was found necessary to lacerate the injury.

"CROOKS FOR A MONTH"

The play that is being put on by the local High School Literary Society, is an annual event and deserves a good patronage. Taking past years as a criterion, the High School plays have been well rendered by the students and well worth the price of admission.
